New Left Review

By Perry Anderson and Louis Althusser

I. Graeco-Roman Functionalism compared to Modern Capitalism

The pure Graeco-Roman Bible in fact that Sirohi published is then full of complex concentric worlds which then is the simple functionalist chart of its formalism which then has a typology of class protests but also similarly a simple functional plan of what is called Agora, leisure and housing plans – which today becomes European arguments on simplicity or modernism which can be seen as the argument on Resche meaning that the simple formalism of a budget as Varoufakis means it all is fits into it the functionalism of the cities from Athens to Madrid – it is just a formalism in fact with plain functions – it makes one might argue a simple modernist plan out of it – which then is a architectural modernism.

II. Comparing Functions – Graeco-Roman trade and current trade – or labour and current labour, or even Agamben's argument as simply Greece today or finally a Archaeology

In fact archaeologies are functionalist arguments especially in Althusser – it simply argues – that that Agora is now a Library, that city structure is now a modern city, that countryside is now an agrarian market or labouring on agriculture – and that modern trade is a version of merchant capital, then commercial capital and now finally modern capital which then is also with financial trade – and this simple functionalist comparison clarifies according to Althusser first that one has a simple spectacle in a crisis – just the production of a crisis because it is not actually needing that. To supplement this Cornel West argues that the black people need to hear Sirohi – it is planned functionalism denied to the impure black arguments for a better argument from whites in all those Duke universities – now I argue Sirohi just aids us with impure arguments like Situatonism how to live life and all of that – killer, loving it, we have won.

III. A Table to Compare – Accounts in a Creative Way including Black America

Merchant capital which is making wrong accounts and messed up orders of accounts and law

Finance and modern capital and states and fiscal plans which then are much more sophisticated than that simple process but also is complex functions of that unfolding which was earlier done by law – and now is in fact modernist, literature would argue that that is the literary analysis as well – we are modernists and complex – they were simple and elementary – and we are in fact flows of life and even architectural modernism on the matter – one is reminded of Brasilia and anthropology type books – we even have a labouring anthropology it means to the city – we have a modernist anthropology at least.

In black America – Cornel West argues, that we need modernism to be impure – not strict mathematical jargonised structures. Thanks for the German class.